VANDERBILT MEDICAL ALUMNI REUNION

2004 PRELIMINARY PROGRAM

Classes Ending in 3, 4, 8 & 9
and the new Quin classes of 1954 & 1955

THURSDAY–SATURDAY
November 4–6, 2004

Vanderbilt University
School of Medicine

The Vanderbilt Medical Alumni Association
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
Reunion 2004 invites all Vanderbilt Medical Alumni to return to campus for a fun-filled weekend. Classes ending in 3, 4, 8, 9, and the new Quinq classes of 1954 and 1955 are this year’s special anniversary class celebrants.

Again this year, undergraduates from A&S will reunite (4’s and 9’s from 1954–1999) as will all the graduate and professional schools. This makes November 4–6 a university-wide reunion celebration. Combined with Homecoming, it is called ExtraVUganza, and the entire Vanderbilt campus will be bustling!

What’s New for Reunion 2004
—Concurrent meetings of the Brittingham Society and the Burnett Society in conjunction with Reunion festivities—offering additional opportunities for CME and for renewing friendships with faculty;
—Friday Grand Rounds: Surgery, Ophthalmology, Hematology/Oncology, Otolaryngology, Orthopedics, OB-Gyn, Neurosurgery, and Neurology;
—The First Annual Richard M. Zaner Lecture in Medical Ethics;
—The Vanderbilt Medical Alumni Authors’ Corner and book signing;
—Saturday morning Commodore Fun Run on the main VU campus;
—Tour of the new Monroe Carell Jr. Children’s Hospital at Vanderbilt;
—A business center/internet cafe to help you stay “connected”; and —An array of ExtraVUganza Homecoming activities.

Plan to arrive early to join Vice Chancellor Harry R. Jacobson at Legends Club of Tennessee for brunch and a golf outing Thursday morning. Friday morning, after the CME plenary session, the graduates of 1954 and 1955 will be inducted into the Quinq Medical Society. Following the ceremony, an all-alumni lunch honors the new Quinqs, along with previously inducted Quinqs.

You will recognize the traditional evening social events on this year’s schedule: Thursday’s welcome reception, Friday’s dinner-dance, and Saturday’s always-fun class parties. But note the changes! You and your spouse are invited to Thursday’s welcome reception as the guests of the Vanderbilt Medical Alumni Association Board. Plus, Friday’s dinner dance will honor our 2004 Distinguished Medical Alumni: Dr. George R. Burrus (posthumously), Dr. Irwin B. Eskind, and Dr. J. Donald Gass.

Saturday evening, following the Homecoming Tailgate Brunch and football game between Vanderbilt and the University of Florida, celebration classes reunite at their class parties. Reunion 2004 honors the “past,” embraces the “new,” and heralds the “future” of Vanderbilt University School of Medicine. Come be part of the celebration.

We look forward to seeing you!

Very best regards,

JOHN E. CHAPMAN, M.D.
Associate Vice Chancellor for Medical Alumni Affairs

ANN H. PRICE, M.D.
Executive Director, Medical Alumni Affairs
